

Larry Adler's Ghost Stories

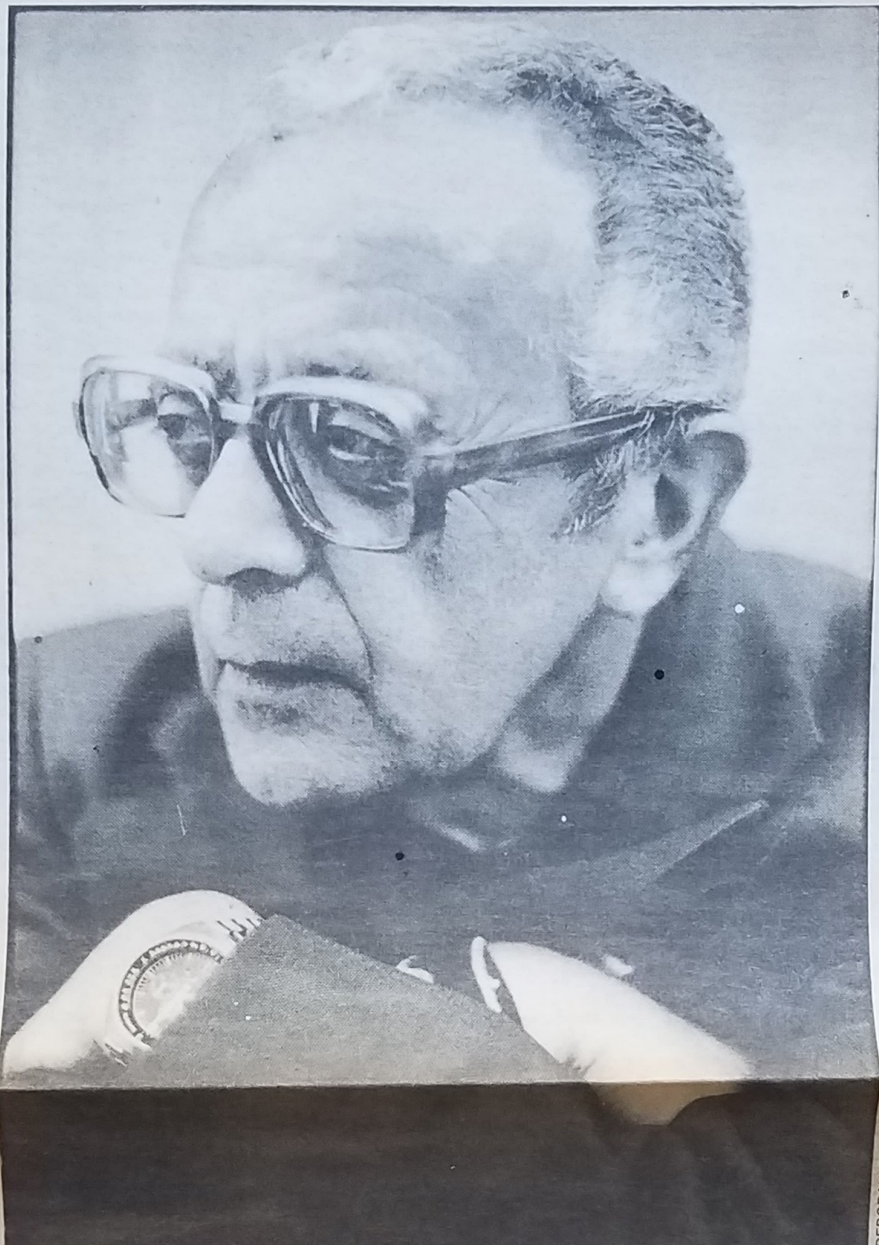

By Gary Giddins

Larry Adler has achieved something only a handful of musicians in history can claim: he's given a folk instrument aesthetic clout. Adler, the 65-year-old virtuoso appearing at the Cookery through September 8, rescued the harmonica from our collective childhood, dressed it in symphonic tails, integrated it into jazz ensembles and film scores, and enticed from it an unprecedented diversity of sounds and techniques—seamless legato phrasing to trills to contrapuntal harmonics. But for all his instrumental skill, the stigma of novelty is not easily expunged. No other musical noise has so many ready-made folk associations, from the bluesman's wail to the cowboy's lullaby; few instruments so willingly give up a perfect tone—a moan, a cry, an evocation—to anyone's untutored exhalation.

Because most of us never got past that maiden tone, the instrument's masters—the Chicago blues dynasty from Little Walter to Junior Wells, the slapstick shenanigans of the Harmonicats, the icy modernist reserve of Toots Thielemans, and the brilliant, dusty, yelping of Sonny Terry—tend to provoke skeptical wonder. No matter how commanding a performance, you never forget that all that music is coming from a damned harmonica. The instrument was invented by an Englishman named Sir Charles Wheatstone in 1829, but the whine that escapes its metallic reeds is the eternal sound of American nocturnes and American zip and American kitsch.

Adler might be characterized as quintessentially American himself, in his pioneering arrogance, his improvisational know-how, his courage, persistence, and wily humor. He was the only student ever expelled from the Peabody Conservatory; at the time he copped first prize in a mouth organ (his preferred term) contest, and was sufficiently unbound by orthodoxies to find his idols in Heifetz, Rachmaninoff, Caruso, Armstrong, Ellington, and Jolson. When he set out from Baltimore at 14, chromatic Hohner in hand, he was a gifted musician without music to play, so for more than 40 years, Adler inspired or commissioned symphonic composers, among them Darius Milhaud and Ralph Vaughan Williams, to write him a repertoire; he adapted numerous classical and popular anthems on his own, and learned to extrapolate handily enough to intrigue Duke Ellington, Django Reinhardt, and Mary Lou Williams. The adaptability he displayed as a musician fortified him in the nightmare years when America lost itself to HUAC's reign. That was in the late '40s, when he was depicted, in his words, as "the greatest subversive, communist, left-wing, agitating, revolutionary character since Zinoviev tried to overthrow the British government, only I was doing the whole thing with a mouth organ."

Adler is a compact, energetic man who favors dark sports clothes, and doesn't seem to have changed much in 20 years, except that he once combed his hair back and now combs it forward. He compares the mouth organ to the human voice in flexibility, and has strong opinions about his colleagues: "Toots Thielemans's jazz is far superior to mine—I get jealous as hell when I hear him play—but he's only got one sound. I admire Sonny Terry. He plays right out of his belly, I could never get those sounds. Stevie Wonder gets a good commercial sound, it's marvelous, but he has no variety at all. I don't think John Sebastian's very good, and Bob Dylan can't play for nuts. His sound is awful and his interpretation worse. I don't think any mouth organ player can get my variety. If they can play good jazz, they sure as hell can't play Bach. That's because I love every style of music, with the sole exception of rock."

This variety is drily exhibited at the Cookery, where music and anecdote are woven into 40-minute autobiographical montages. Accompanied by pianist Hal Schaffer when he isn't accompanying himself, Adler plays a program of pop songs from the golden age, classical favorites (or more pop songs from another golden age), a couple of originals from his film scores, and an occasional novelty, such as a medley of cowboy songs; these are interspersed with stories and asides related with the sing-song conversationalism and brevity of a master in the Jewish tradition of storytelling. When he hits a groove on the fast tempos—"Where or When," "On the Street Where You Live"—he achieves a rhythmic equanimity that is much like swing, though I don't think it's quite the McCoy. On ballads, he evinces a charming, Gallic romanticism underscored by wit and drama.

The mouth organ lends itself to drama, with its startling dynamic range, and I find Adler most rewarding when he kvells his way through minor tempests, as on "Malaguena," "Rhapsody in Blue," "Blues in the Night," "Sophisticated Lady," "Am I Blue," and "Bolero." He's been adding classical numbers to the set in response to audience requests, but at least one selection is always in his repertoire. It's Beethoven's Minuet in G, which he plays in C, employing counterpoint and double stops. In 1928, it was his ticket out of Baltimore.

Adler abandoned the piano and the conservatory at 10, piqued because his grandfather had compared him unfavorably to a concertizing prodigy of the day. Four years later, he entered a mouth organ contest sponsored by the Baltimore Sun; while the other contestants trotted out pop ditties, Adler snared the judges with Beethoven. He used the prize to travel north, but a New York audition for Borrah Minevitch (who later graduated a couple of the Harmonicats) ended in three words of advice: "Kid, you stink." Trekking despondently back to Penn Station, he eyed Rudy Vallee's name on a marquee, sneaked in, and wrangled a job for the evening. He flopped, but a subsequent evening with bandleader Paul Ash led to a 44-week contract with Paramount, traveling the country in what the English called Cine-Variety: "You'd be on the bill with a film, and the number of shows you did depended on how popular it was. In Mae West's heyday, I might find myself doing six shows a day, and you did the same goddam act, because once you rehearsed with the band you couldn't change. By the time you walked out for the fourth show, you hated it and were all tightened up. But it gave me the training to walk on and off a stage, not to be afraid of a cold audience—training you couldn't get today." Soon he was stooging for Dan Healey (two men wrestled a bear while Adler played mouth organ; the climax came when the bear pulled someone's pants off) and Eddie Cantor. In Ziegfeld's 1931 Smiles, he worked with Fred Astaire and became famous enough to interest Hollywood.

Adler plays a lot of jazz at the Cookery, and hopes to record with some jazz musicians while in New York. He can improvise cleverly and sympathetically, but as he once confessed, in a manner exemplifying what he calls Jewish gallows humor, "I am not now, nor have I ever been, a jazz musician." One evening, Mary Lou Williams, who's playing down the block at the Knickerbocker, collaborated with him on "Caravan," commenting later, "He's a genius. He plays nice chords—usually they play corny chords. I think he could play the modern stuff if he worked on it."

Adler's first in a string of encounters with noted jazz musicians coincided with his first movie offer, to play "Sophisticated Lady" in the 1934 film, Many Happy Returns, for $300. The Guy Lombardo orchestra was hired to accompany him. "I refused. So they fired me and rehired me and fired me, and it went all the way to the head of the studio, William LeBaron, but I flatly refused to work with Lombardo. I said, 'You know who I like? I like Duke Ellington,' and LeBaron said, 'Well, I like Duke Ellington, too, Larry, but you can't expect us to hire him to accompany you, he isn't even in California.' At 2 a.m., LeBaron called and said, 'Well, you little son of a bitch, we got Ellington.'"

Ellington was paid $5000 to back Adler's $300, but wasn't photographed or credited, because Lombardo wasn't supposed to know about the switch. Afterwards, Adler's intractability resulted in "one of the greatest regrets" of his life. Ellington's manager, Irving Mills, offered him a contract to record 50 sides with Ellington, at $25 each. Having read in Variety that Bing Crosby got a 5 per cent royalty, Adler demanded the same; Mills told him what he could do with his royalties. "That same year, Duke and I were at the Grand Terrace in Chicago. Earl Hines, who had the band, called on us and we got up to play 'Sophisticated Lady.' Afterwards, Duke brought me over to a table where a lady was sitting by herself. He said, 'Larry, I want you to meet Billie Holiday.' I put out my hand to say how-do-you-do and she said, 'Man, you don't play that fucking thing, you sing it.' Oh God, I can't tell you what it did to me."

There was another encounter with a jazz legend in 1938, when Adler attended a concert by the Quintette du Hot Club in Paris. Charles Delauney, the master of ceremonies, introduced Adler, to his great surprise, and asked him to do a number. "I stood up and said, 'It's very embarrassing but I haven't got a mouth organ.' And Django Reinhardt said, 'I've got one,' and pulled it out of his pocket." The encounter led to a recording session for Columbia, with Reinhardt's quintet accompanying Adler on four perennially reissued sides.

There is a waitress at the Cookery who is studying to be a concert pianist, and when Adler found out he invited her to join him on "Clair de Lune." His favorite mode of performing is the symphonic concert, and although the mouth organ piano instrumentation limits his repertoire, he's gratified by the audience's interest in his classical transcriptions.

In 1934, when he started recording, Adler scored one of his first hits with a drastically abridged version of Ravel's "Bolero." When he performed it a year later at the Alhambra in Paris, a controversy ensued and Ravel requested him to play it in his home. "I played it in front of him, feeling like a shmuck. It was so embarrassing and he never moved a muscle. He just listened to me, and when I finished it, he said, 'You've cut it.' I said, 'Well, yes, I had to because I do a vaudeville act and you can't do just one number in a 12-minute act.' He said, 'You know Toscanini?' I said yes. He said, 'Toscanini doesn't cut it.' He was looking at me and I was looking at him and nothing was being said. So out of sheer desperation, I held up my record of 'Bolero' and said, 'Maestro, would you sign this for me?' He said he thought the record was a present for him, which amazed me, and I said, 'Sure, Maestro,' and left it with him.

"Three days later, I received a call from Jacques Lyon, who ran a record shop on the Champs Elysees. He said, 'Get over

MOVIES

Continued from page 64

THURSDAY (Aug 16):

Race for the Yellow Jersey, by Tom Spain, Fordham Lbry, 2556 Bainbridge Av, Bx, 3 p.m. (free); Flipper (1963), with Chuck Connors, Soundview Lbry, 660 Soundview Av, Bx, 4 p.m. (free); The Witches, see Wed, Aug 15; Rebel Without a Cause and Walk on the Wild Side, see Wed, Aug 15; On The Town, with Frank Sinatra, Gene Kelley, Jules Munshin, Vera-Ellen, Betty Garrett, Pacific Lbry, 4th Av at Pacific, Bklyn, 6 p.m. (free); X from Outer Space (1967), by Kazui Nihonmatsu, and Noriaki Yuasa's Gamera the Invincible (1965), Japan House, 333 E 47th, 832-1155, 7:30 p.m. ($3); Independent films, Filmmobile, J. J. Byrne Park, betw 4th and 5th Av and 3rd and 4th Sts, Bklyn, 9 p.m. (free); Documentaries on Romania, Romanian Lbry, 200 E 38th, 5:30 p.m. (free); Ithaca Video Festival, see Wed, Aug 15; Porcupine Quill Work; A Pair of Moccasins; Alice Elliot; Eskimo Artist: Kenojuk, 11 a.m., Lacrosse Stick Maker; Kwakluti Artist: Haida Carver; Sarah Smith: a Mohawk Potter, 1 p.m., Old U.S. Custom House, Bowling Green (free); Lincoln Ctr Sound and Light Spectacular, Lincoln Ctr Plaza, 9:30 p.m. (free); Unity in Diversity, Asia House, 112 E 64th, 6 p.m. ($1); The Trip (1967), by Roger Corman, with Peter Fonda, Bruce Dern, Susan Strasberg, Richard Rush's Psych-Out (1968), with Strasberg, Jack Nicholson, Dean Stockwell, Dern, 2:30 p.m., Curtis Harrington's Night Tide (1963), with Dennis Hopper, Luana Anders, 6 p.m., Vernon Zimmerman's The Unholy Rollers, 8:30 p.m., Museum of Modern Art (mus adm $2.50); To Be or Not to Be, with Jack Benny, Carole Lombard, Saratoga Lbry, Hopkinson Av at Macon, Bklyn, 2:30 p.m. (free); Modern Times with Chaplin, Spring Creek Lbry, Flatlands Av nr NJ Av, Bklyn, 7 p.m. (free);

FRIDAY (Aug 17):

Rose Hobart (1937), by Joseph Cornell, Stan Brakhage's Anticipation of the night (1958), Kenneth Anger's Eaux d'Artifice (1953), Maya Deren's Meshe of the Afternoon (1943), Ian Hugo's Bells of Atlantis, Downtown Drive-In spon by Creative Time, lot on Wall St south of William St, 9 p.m. (free); Little Women (1933), by George Cukor, with Katharine Hepburn, Joan Bennett, Paul Lukas, Wakefield Lbry, 4100 Lowerre Pl, Bx, 1 and 3 p.m. (free); The Witches, 4, 6, 8, 10 p.m., see Wed, Aug 15; Avant-garde films by Paul Wood and Neil Ira Needleman, Washington Sq Church, 133 W 4th, 8 p.m. ($1); The Totem Pole and Wooden Box, 11 a.m., Porcupine Quill Work; A Pair of Moccasins; Alice Elliot; Eskimo Artist: Kenojuk, 1 p.m., Lacrosse Stick Maker; Tony Hunt, Kwakluti Artist: Haida Carver; Sarah Smith: a Mohawk

Potter, 3 p.m., Old U.S. Custom House, Bowling Green (free); Three in the Attic (1968), with Yvette Mimieux, Christopher Jones, Judy Pace, 2:30 p.m., Georges Melles, Ferdinand Zecca, Emile Cohl, Jean Durand, and the 'Trick Film' in France 1899-1912, 18 films, 6 p.m., Museum of Modern Art (mus adm $2.50); Murder on the Orient Express, with Albert Finney, Mapleton Lbry, 60th and 17th Av, Bklyn, 6:45 p.m. (free); They've Killed President Lincoln, Macon Lbry, Lewis Av at Macon, Bklyn, 2:30 p.m. (free); Sunset Boulevard, by Billy Wilder, with Gloria Swanson, Wm Holden, New Utrecht Lbry, 86th and Bay 17th Sts, Bklyn, 2 p.m. (free); Laughing Gravy, with Laurel and Hardy, Love Business, with the Little Rascals, Saratoga Lbry, hopkinson Av at Macon, Bklyn, 3:30 p.m. (free); Lincoln Ctr Sound and Light Spectacular, see Thurs, Aug 16; Independent films, Filmmobile at Forest Houses, 165th betw Union and Trinity Aves, Bx, 9 p.m. (free); Ithaca Video festival, see Wed, Aug 15;

SATURDAY (Aug 18):

Ithaca Video Festival, see Wed, Aug 15; Sand; Peter and the Wolf; Vertical Roll; Oddball; Fine Feathers; Step By Step; Railyards, Queens Museum, NYC Bldg, Flushing Meadow-Corona Park, Qns, 592-2405, 2:30 p.m. (free); Wild for Kicks (1959), by Christopher Lee, Oliver Reed, Club 57, 57 St. Mark's Pl, midnt and 2 a.m. ($2.50); Lincoln Ctr Sound and Light Spectacular, see Thurs, Aug 16; The Amazing Colossal Man (1957), noon, John Milius's Dillinger (1973), with Warren Oates, Ben Johnson, Michelle Phillips, Cloris Leachman, 2:30 p.m., Vernon Zimmerman's The Unholy Rollers (1972), 5 p.m., Museum of Modern Art (mus adm $2.50); Lacrosse Stick Maker; Tony Hunt; Kwakluti Artist: Haida Carver; Sarah Smith: a Mohawk Potter, 10 a.m., Porcupine Quill Work; A Pair of Moccasins; Alice Elliot; Eskimo Artist: Kenojuk, 11 a.m., Crooked Beak of Heaven, 1 and 3 p.m., Old U.S. Custom House, Bowling Green (free); Independent films, Filmmobile, Arthur Park, LaFontaine and Arthur Qv Aves, Bx, 9 p.m. (free); The Witches, 4, 6, 8, 10 p.m., see Wed, Aug 15; Pull My Daisy (1959), by Alfred Leslie and Robert Frank, Kenneth Anger's Scorpio Rising (1963), Bruce Conner's Valse Triste (1978) and Mongoloid (1978), George Kuchar's The Sunshine Sisters (1973), Rudy Burckhardt's Tarzan (1969), Downtown Drive-In spon by Creative Time, lot on Wall St south of William St, 9 p.m. (free); Hellstrom Chronicle, Central Lbry, Grand Army Plaza, Bklyn, 2:30 p.m. (free);

SUNDAY (Aug 19):

The Witches, 4, 6, 8, 10 p.m., see Wed, Aug 15; Sand, etc., see Sat, Aug 18; Crooked Beak of Heaven (1976), by David Attenborough, Old U.S. Custom House, Bowling Green, 1 and 3 p.m. (free); The Amazing Colossal Man, noon, Brian De Palma's Sisters (1973), with Margot Kidder, Jennifer Salt, 2:30 p.m., D. W. Griffith's Birth of a Nation (1915), with Henry Walthall, Mae Marsh, Lillian Gish, newly restored color version, 5 p.m., Museum of Modern Art (mus adm $2.50); Independent films, Filmmobile, Pelham Pkwy Houses, playgd, Wallace Av betw Pelham Pkwy N and Astor Av, Bx, 9 p.m. (free);

MONDAY (Aug 20):

The Thing (1951), by Christian Nyby, with James Arness, Clason's Pt Lbry, 1215 Morrison Av, Bx, 2 p.m. (free); Ithaca Video Festival, see Wed, Aug 15; Independent films, Filmmobile, Central Pk N at Leonx Av, 9 p.m. (free); Salt for Svanetia (1930), by M. Kalatozov, noon, The Bonnie Parker Story (1958), with Dorothy Provine, Roger Corman's Machine Gun Kelly (1958), with Charles Bronson, Susan Cabot, 2:30 p.m., Alessio de Paola's Chastity (1969), with Cher, 6 p.m., Museum of Modern Art (mus adm $2.50); College (1927), with Buster Keaton, Fordham Lbry, 2556 Bainbridge Av, Bx, 2:30 p.m. (free); The White Sheik (1954), by Fellini, with Alberto Sordi, Giulietta Masina, Jefferson Mkt Lbry, 425 6th Av at 10th, 7 p.m. (free); Puerto Rico, Centro de Informacion, 240 Division Av, Bklyn, 3:30 p.m. (free);

TUESDAY (Aug 21):

Seventh Heaven, with Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Public Thr, 425 Lafayette, 598 -7171, 6, 8, 10 p.m. ($3); Unity in Diversity, by Film Australia with John Temple, Asia House, 112 E 64th, 2 p.m. ($1); My Side of the Mountain (1969), with Theodore Bikel, Ted Eccles, Francis Martin Lbry, 2150 University Av, Bx, 2 p.m. (free); The Red Balloon and Our Gang Follies of 1938 Gravesend Lbry, Av X nr W 2nd, Bklyn, 2 p.m. (free); City of the Big Shoulders, and Paul Tomkowicz: Street-Railway Switchman, 58th Lbry 127 E 58th, 6:15 p.m. (free); Planet of the Apes, with Charlton Heston, Kim Hunter, People's Park, Manhattan Av and 104th, 9 p.m. (free); Dr. Goldfoot and the Bikini Machine, with Vincent Price, Frankie Avalon, Monster Movie Club, 57 St. Mark's Pl, 475-9671, 10 p.m. ($2; "Space Patrol" serial at 9:30 p.m.); Flipper (1963), with Chuck Conners, Clason's Pt Lbry, 1215 Morrison Av, Bx, 4 p.m. (free); Salt for Svanetia (1930), by M. Kalatozov, noon, D. W. Griffith's Birth of a Nation (1915), with Henry B. Walthall, Lillian Gish, Mae Marsh, 2:30 p.m., Roger Corman's Bloody Mama (1970), with Shelley Winters, Don Stroud, Diane Varsi, Pat Hingle, Bruce Dern, 6 p.m., Museum of Modern Art (mus adm $2.50); Ithaca Video Festival, see Wed, Aug 15; Alvin Alley: Memories and Visions and Paul Taylor Dance Co, Central Lbry, Grand Army Plaza, Bklyn, 2:30 p.m. (free); No Trespassing, Romanian Lbry, 200 E 38th, 5:30 p.m. (free); Whose Life Is It anyway? Macon Lbry, Lewis Av at Macon, Bklyn, 1:30 p.m. (free); Brian's Song, with James Caan, Ryder Lbry, 23rd Av at 59th, Bklyn, 3:30 p.m. (free); Independent films, Filmmobile, Fort Four Park, Sedgwick and Reservoir Aves, Bx, 9 p.m. (free); The Ox-Bow Incident, with Henry Fonda, Hope Emerson, Williamsburgh Lbry, Division and Marcy Aves, Bklyn, 2:30 p.m. (free); Reggae, Eastern Pkwy Lbry, East Pkwy at Schenectady Av, Bklyn, 2:30 p.m. (free);

WEDNESDAY (Aug 22):

Ithaca Video Festival, Donnel Lbry, 20 W 53rd, 790-6418, noon-2 p.m. (free); Word Is Out and Shirley Clark's Portrait of Jason, the Glines of Spike Bar, 11th Av at 20th, 8:30 p.m. (free); Bye Bye Birdie (1963), with Dick Van Dyke, Janet Leigh, Ann-Margaret, Paul Lynde, Great Kills Lbry, 56 Giffords La, Sl, 1:30 p.m.; also at Dongan Hills Lbry, 1617 Richmond Rd, Sl, 7 p.m. (free); Ugly Little Boy, and Matthew Manning, a Study of a Psychic, Carroll Gdns Lbry, Clinton and Union Sts, Bklyn, 2 p.m. (free); The Holocaust, part IV, Kings Bay Lbry, Nostrand Av nr W, Bklyn, 7:30 p.m. (free); The Fantastic Voyage, with Stephen Boyd, Raquel Welch, Clason's Pt Lbry, 1215 Morrison Av, Bx, 2 p.m. (free); In the Land of the War Canoes, 11 a.m., Kwakluti of British Columbia, 1 and 3 p.m., Old U.S. Custom House, Bowling Green (free); Yesterday's Witness and Mathew Brady: Photographer of an Era, NY Historical Soc, 77th and Central Pk W, 2 p.m. (contib); Planet of the Apes, with Charlton Heston, Roddy McDowell, Tompkins Sq Park, 7th betw Aves A and B, 9 p.m. (free);

FREE BEING

RECORD HOUSE

WE BUY SELL TRADE NEW & USED ALBUMS

129 2nd AVE.
(AT ST. MARKS PLACE)

TEL. 260-1774
OPEN 7 DAYS 12-9

Jackson, and Amin Ali. Aug. 16-18, 21 Seventh Ave. S. (Giddins) 242-4694
Seventh Avenue South

Licks

So What? So What!

Miles was the father, Zawinul the mutha, and McLaughlin the pediatrician. Fusion was the baby. But since Miles divorced himself from the problem child in '76 and McLaughlin decided to pay only irregular house calls, Zawinul has had sole custody. Being a single mutha is no easy job, and with the kid entering latency in these lean, late '70s, some conscientious local groups have dropped by to help. "Blood" Ulmer's is one, and So What is another.

Taking us back full circle, in name at least, to Miles, So What is a band that should be heard by anybody interested in serious, non-tenderized fusion. Unrecorded, virtually unknown, and understandably anxious, they came off their Bottom Line chance—in which they opened for Tony Williams a bit too successfully—with recent gigs at Kenny's Castaways and Beefsteak Charlie's Jazz Emporium. They gave strong, memorable performances at both clubs.

Although So What uses conventional instrumentation (guitar-keyboards-bass-drums) and is traditional in its improvisational aesthetic (one at a time, thank you), the quartet offers a welcome change from both the plodding verbosity and the fluffy, cliched arrangements of most recent fusion. Their extended compositions are full of surprises: oblique melodic bursts, textural nuances, tempo turns and provocative counterpoint. And while they can play pretty without being dainty or mawkish, they also can run through tight, technical ensemble passages without falling into the mechanical mode—something Return To Forever, their precursor, could never manage. All four members improvise with enthusiasm and authority, but at this point only guitarist Steve Bargonetti is a truly exceptional soloist, especially in his rhythmic attack. He might very well become the next Guitar Star, even if So What doesn't make it as a group. Which it should.

—David Breskin

rockpile

The David Johansen Group

featuring
NICK LOWE and
DAVE EDMUNDS

SPECIAL GUEST
JOHN COOPER CLARK

AUGUST 20

TICKETS $8.50, 7.50

TIM CURRY

FRI. AUG. 31

TICKETS $8.50, 7.50

THE CLASH

SEPTEMBER 20 & 21
TICKETS $8.50, 7.50

FRI., SEPT 28

LITTLE RIVER BAND.

TICKETS $8.50, 7.50

JOE JACKSON

SEPT. 29 SOLD OUT
TICKETS $7.50, 6.50

EXTRA SHOW ADDED SUN. SEPT. 30

ALL SHOWS 8 PM

NEIL YOUNG

A CONCERT FANTASY
RUST NEVER SLEEPS

AUG. 15 - 19
BOX OFFICE
OPENS DAILY
AT NOON

TICKETS ONLY AT TICKETRON - CALL (212) 977-9828. FOR ADDITIONAL INFO CALL 248-0878
THE PALLADIUM (14 ST. BETWEEN 3RD & 4TH AVE.)

Presented By Ron Delsner

Continued from preceding page

PETER TOSH

Raggae for rockers. Aug. 17 at 6:30, Fifth Ave. and 59 St. (Christgau)
Wollman Skating Rink Theatre 249-8870

NEW YORK PHILHARMONIC

Mehta and company tour the boroughs. August 16, Botanical Gardens, Bronx: Mahler's Symphony No. 5; August 17, Cunningham Park, Queens: Beethoven's Ninth; August 20, Prospect Park, Brooklyn: Schubert's Fifth and Beethoven's Ninth; August 21, Snug Harbor Park, Staten Island: Mozart's great G Minor and Mahler's Fifth. All concerts at 8:30 and free. (Kerner)
Parks listed above 877-0996

TAJ MAHAL

Taj opens for Richie Havens. Each will demonstrate a way of relating the folkie tradition to the black music tradition. I prefer Taj's. Aug. 20 at 6:30, Fifth Ave. and 59 St. (Christgau)
Wollman Skating Rink Theatre 249-8870

JAMES BLOOD ULMER

This is the semi-avant garde rocking jazz band that everyone likes for different reasons, a musical Rorschach test for the waning '70s, with David Murray, Ronald here at once. Maestro Ravel is in my shop and wants to see you.' I rushed over and there was Ravel with a piece of paper bearing his signature. Then, in 1943, I did a concert with the Philadelphia Symphony, and was asked to prepare an encore. I said, what about 'Bolero,' and they said we'd have to pay a performing rights fee, too expensive, think of something else. I said, 'Look, Ravel's publishers, Elkan, Vogel, are in Philadelphia. Maybe because I knew Ravel they'll give me a rate.' So I went over there and Mr. Elkan came out and said, 'We know all about you, Mr. Adler.' Ravel had left in his will rights to me to play 'Bolero' without any performing fees. I could play it anyway I liked, in boogie woogie tempo if I wanted."

European composers had been taking an interest in Adler since his tour of London in 1934. Cyril Scott was the first to write expressly for Adler; around the same time, George Gershwin authorized a new arrangement of "Rhapsody in Blue" for him. When Darius Milhaud heard him play the "Rhapsody" in 1943, he offered to write him a suite. During the next decade, concertos were written for him by Vaughan Williams, Malcolm Arnold, and Arthur Benjamin, among a dozen others. At the same time, Adler honed his talents as a monologist under the tutelage of Jack Benny. They did USO tours together, and when Benny needed a 45-minute broadcast in Cairo, Adler wrote it for him. He was at the pinnacle of his career in the '40s, touring either as the guest soloist with symphony orchestras, or in an ambitious act with the dancer Paul Draper that became a top box office draw. Then the trouble began.

A certain amount of sentimentality attends Adler's engagement at the Cookery. His producer is Barney Josephson, whose Cafe Society clubs were shut down by the House Un-American Activities Committee. "What they wanted Barney to do was denounce his own brother," Adler says. "Winchell wanted to make a deal with me —all I had to do was denounce Henry Wallace and Paul Draper." Sometimes the reminiscing hangs heavy—"It's marvelous to see my old friends, but a lot of people who come to the Cookery are almost lachrymose about good old Larry and how brave he was. I do wish they'd let the subject alone."

Adler had been a member of numerous left-wing organizations when, in 1947, he joined the Committee for the First Amendment, to protest the inquisition of the Hollywood writers known as the Unfriendly 19, later the Unfriendly 10. They chartered planes to Washington, and all hell broke loose when they arrived. "The press attacked us and Humphrey Bogart caved in in the most demeaning, debasing way, saying that he was duped, didn't realize what he was doing, but was sorry and knew the American people would allow him one mistake. And then Gene Kelly reneged, and Danny Kaye reneged, and Frank Sinatra reneged, and those of us who didn't stood out like carbuncles." During the next year, Adler and Draper filed a libel suit against Hester McCulloch, who had written that they should not be allowed to perform in Greenwich, because money paid them went directly to Moscow. The Hearst press took up the cudgel, and soon the duo's signed contracts were canceled. A blacklist took effect and in 1949, while touring London, Adler's wife convinced him to stay abroad until it blew over. It didn't.

At Isaac Stern's suggestion, Sol Hurok agreed to produce Adler in 1952 if the American Legion didn't picket. A concert at Town Hall was sold out and received wildly favorable reviews, despite attempts to force him to cancel. Hurok insisted that his board of directors would not let him continue the association. William Morris booked Adler in Vegas, but the Legion stepped in and the contract was repudiated. "When I came back in 1952, I sat at Sardi's with Elia Kazan, John Garfield, Frank Loesser, Charlie Letterer, and Abe Burrows, and we knew that Kazan had been subpoenaed by the Un-American Activities Committee, and Kazan said, 'I've got two million bucks in the bank, and nobody's going to make me talk.' We thought, 'good old Kazan.' Two days later, a quarter page ad appears in the New York Times, signed by Kazan, in which he said that to keep silent was to play the Communist game. He went to Washington and gave a tremendous list of names, including Clifford Odets. The night he went before the committee, I had dinner at Meyer Davis's house and there was Odets. I said, 'Cliff, you must feel awful, having one of your best friends name you.' And Odets said, 'Larry, how do we know what kind of pressure he was under, who are we to judge?' I thought, this guy's a saint; I felt like a shmuck for even bringing it up. The next week, Odets went before the committee and named everybody, including Kazan. They'd made a deal—you name me and I'll name you.

"Abe Burrows called me to have lunch and said, 'Larry, you're about to give this recital at Town Hall. Why don't you make a public non-Communist statement and go down to Washington? What do you say?' The main thing is to get back to work, we want you back playing your mouth organ.' I said, 'Abe, that's not for me.' He said, 'Larry, it makes it embarrassing for your friends. Your name comes up in conversations and I don't know what to say.' I said, 'I'll tell you what you say, say you don't know me.' He said, 'Come on, you're taking it the wrong way.' I didn't know that Abe was about to go before the committee and give names." Adler returned to London.

The English film director Henry Cornelius hired him to compose the score for his film, Genevieve, in 1953. Six weeks before it opened at the Sutton theatre, the producer was asked to submit a new set of credits omitting Adler's name. The music was nominated for an Academy Award, and when the nominations were read, Muir Matheson, who conducted the orchestra, was named as composer. "About a year later, I saw the Mathesons, and asked him why he accepted the nomination. He looked me straight in the eye and said, 'I thought I was being nominated simply for services to British music.'" In 1959, Art D'Lugoff booked Adler for a triumphant homecoming engagement at the newly opened Village Gate, where he was accompanied by Ellis Larkins. Years later, Adler learned that James Thurber, E.J. Kahn, and Kenneth Tynan had guaranteed D'Lugoff against any loss.

That year, he made a TV appearance with Dizzy Gillespie, and recorded two pop/jazz albums for Audiofidelity, with Larkins, a badly underrecorded Ruby Braff, Joe Benjamin, and Paul Motian. There have been occasional tours and concerts in the United States ever since, but Adler will continue to live in London, where he's a celebrity not only for his music but for his fanatical devotion to tennis and his articles and book reviews in the New Statesman, the Spectator, Punch, the Jewish Chronicle, and the Sunday Times.

As recently as 1965, Sol Hurok told Adler that a concert tour in America would be difficult to bring off because "concert committees are run by Republican ladies with long memories." Ironically, Adler's instrument attests to those memories. It's a Larry Adler model of the Hohner Super Chromonica, which is sold all over the world—but not in the United States. Another sort of memory, every bit as tenacious, asserted itself one night at the Cookery. As Adler circled back from the mike to the cash register in ritual prelude to his encore, a tall and gaunt Alger Hiss walked in. They embraced under Barney Josephson's benevolent gaze, and an onlooker swears that they later toasted themselves for outlasting Winchell and Kilgallen and McCarthy and other ghosts that not even the torrid lament of a mouth organ can lay to rest.

KING KAROL HAS THE HITS ON

$8⁹⁹

A NIGHT AT STUDIO 54. This specially priced 2 Record Set mixed at the world famous Studio 54 captures all the glitter and the glamour of the world's most exclusive Disco.

Includes Alicia Bridges' "I Love the Night Life", Chic's "Le Freak", Village People's "Y.M.C.A." and more. A rare invitation inside Studio 54 courtesy of Casablanca Record and Filmworks.

$5⁴⁹

ROBIN WILLIAMS Reality... What A Concept

All the brilliance of Robin Williams' live performances in San Francisco and New York are captured on his debut album—"REALITY... WHAT A CONCEPT!"

WARNING: Parental discretion is advised
May contain material not suited for children under 16 years of age

★ AMERICA'S MOST COMPLETELY STOCKED RECORD STORES ★
126 West 42 at 6th Av. (Open Sunday 11 to 8)
7 West 48 St. • 1500 Broadway • 460 West 42nd St.
940 Third Ave. • Flushing, Queens: 40-46 Main St.
Bring Ad in Order to Obtain Price

Our NEW Completely Stocked Store is NOW OPEN at 1521 Third Ave (a few steps off 86th Street)

THE PERFECT NIGHT

See NIGHT on their "Hot Summer Nights"
National Tour

The Bottom Line, August 20th.

The Nassau Coliseum, August 23rd.
(with The Doobie Brothers)

NIGHT is:

Nicky Hopkins
Chris Thompson
Stevie Lange
Robbie McIntosh
Billy Christian
Peter Barron
Tim Schaffer

NIGHT is produced by Richard Perry

ON PLANET RECORDS AND TAPES

©1979 Planet Records Distributed by Elextra/Asylum Records • A Division of Warner Communications, Inc.

Available At:
Record Hunter, Discophile
Musical Maze, Colony Records

ZIG ZAG RECORDS NEW & USED

BOUGHT, SOLD, TRADED, OUT OF PRINT ROCK LPS
OUR SPECIALTY
WE BUY COLLECTIONS
Full Line of New Wave
Import '45s & L.P.'s

TELE. 648-5115
2301 AVENUE U
(CORNER EAST 23RD ST.)
in Brooklyn, nr. Ave U Stop, on IND-D Train

2nd STORE:
GLEN COVE, L.I.
221 Glen St.
Exit 30N, L.I.E.
(516) 671-3348

LoneStar
61st Ave. CAFE
(212) 242-1664

Vassar Clements
plus
EVE MOON
Wed+Thurs 8/15+16

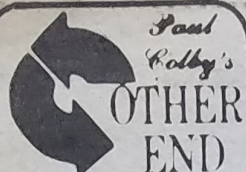

OLD SALT
plus RAMBEAUX
Fri+Sat 8/17+18

Chinga Chavins
Country Show
Sunday 8/19

Kingfish
plus
Peter Karlo
Mon+Tues 8/20+21

Carl Perkins
Mr. Blue Suede Shoes
with RAMBEAUX
Wed+Thurs 8/22+23

Coming:
Larry Coryell 8/26+27
Rick Danko &
Paul Butterfield 9/25-27

Paul Robb's
OTHER END
PRESENTS
Tonight Only
BRUBECK BROS.
& THE GATHERING FORCES

August 16 thru August 18
AN EVENING WITH
JEFF LORBER FUSION

August 21 thru August 22
ROWAN BROS.
(CHRIS & LORIN) SNEAKIN' featuring
HOWIE WYETH

August 23 thru August 25
AN EVENING WITH BARRY MILES

August 28 thru August 29
RAMBLIN JACK ELLIOT
BOB GIBSON

August 30 thru September 1
JIMMIE MACK

September 5 thru September 8
ESTHER SATTERFIELD
(With The Sounds of Philadelphia the MSSB Rhythm Section)
TICKETS $7.50
ADVANCE SALE

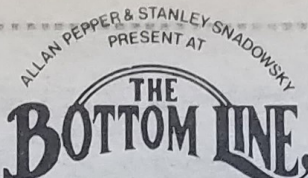

September 25 thru September 27
STEPHANE GRAPPELLI
TICKETS $6.50
ADVANCE SALE

Advance Sale Tickets Now at Box Office. Mail Orders - Send Certified Check or Money Order -
To The Other End with Self-Addressed, Stamped Envelope

Cafe Open Til 4 AM
DINING ROOM SHOW CASE
RICHARD YOUNGER
August 15 thru August 20

Talent Showcase Tuesday

Double Proof Of Age Required
147 BLEECKER STREET
IN THE VILLAGE
RESV. (212) 673-7030

FRIDAY AUGUST 17 and SATURDAY AUGUST 18

TOM RUSH
PRISCILLA HERDMAN

MONDAY AUGUST 20
ONE NIGHT ONLY NIGHT

THURSDAY AUGUST 23 thru
SATURDAY AUGUST 25
CANCELLED PLAIN PRICE
TICKETS REFUNDED AT THE BOX OFFICE

SUNDAY AUGUST 26
DIXIE DREGGS

MONDAY AUGUST 27
LONG JOHN BALDRY
AND HIS BAND
FEATURING
THE A'S
ROY YOUNG

TUESDAY AUGUST 28
THE SHIRTS
KATHI McDONALD

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 29
and THURSDAY AUGUST 30
WALTER EGAN
BLACKJACK

TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 4
thru THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 6
RORY GALLAGHER
ALL SEATS $7.50

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 7
and SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 8
THE RECORDS

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 14
and SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 15
THE DILLARDS

HEAR "FROM THE BOTTOM LINE" OVER WNYU FM 89.1
STEREO EVERY MONDAY NIGHT
AT 9:30.

SHOWS ARE 8:30 AND 11:30
EXCEPT FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
SHOWS ARE 9 PM AND 12 MID-NIGHT. DOORS OPEN AT 6:30.

TICKETS ARE $5.50 SUN-THURS.,
$6.50 FRI. AND SAT. TICKETS
NOW AT THE BOX OFFICE. MAIL
ORDERS: SEND CERTIFIED CHECK OR MONEY ORDER TO THE BOTTOM LINE WITH STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE PLUS
25¢ FOR HANDLING.

NO ONE ADMITTED UNDER 18.
DOUBLE PROOF REQUIRED.

THE BOTTOM LINE
15 WEST 4th STREET
(CORNER OF MERCER)
(212) 228-7880

Party in the Park

TICKET SALE LOCATIONS

$10 in advance
$15 day of show

ADVENTURE LAND
Route 110, Farmingdale

AIRSTEP
"The Shoe Store",
Roosevelt Field

ARBYS (L.I.)
Deer Park Ave., Deer Park
Montauk Hwy, Bay Shore
Sunrise Hwy, Lindenhurst
Middle Ctry Rd., Centereach
Patchogue/Jefferson Rd.,
Port Jefferson Sta.
Sunrise Hwy, Massapequa
Route 110, Huntington
Sunrise Highway, Patchogue
Jericho Tpke., Commack
Hempstead Tpke., Levittown
Long Beach Rd., Oceanside
West Main St., Smithtown
North Grand Ave., Baldwin
Old Country Rd., Westbury

ARTISAN
167 Mineola Blvd., Mineola

AUDIO BY ZIMET
1040 Northern Blvd., Roslyn

BACK BARN
164 Hicksville Rd., Bethpage
210 Sunrise Hwy,
Valley Stream

BATTLING BARRY'S HOUSE OF AUDIO (L.I.)
35-20 Sunrise Hwy, Wantagh
Old Ctry Rd., opp. Roosevelt
Field, Westbury
Broadway, opp. Sears,
Hicksville
Rt. 110, opp. Walt Whitman
Mall, Huntington
1757 Sunrise Hwy, Bay Shore
2384 Middle Country Rd.,
Centereach

BEGGARS OPERA
215-32 Jamaica Ave., Queens

BLACKBEARDS
2151 Grand Ave., Baldwin

CAR TUNES
1150 Rt. 110, Farmingdale
399 E. Jericho Tpke.,
Smithtown

CHEERS
1258 Deer Park Ave.,
No. Babylon

CRAZY EDDIE
N.J.: Rt. 110, E. Brunswick
Rt. 22, Union
Rt. 17, Paramus
Bronx: 300 E. Fordham Rd.
Manhattan: 405 Ave. of Americas & 8th St.
Brooklyn: 2067 Coney Island
Ave. & Kings Hwy.
L.I.: 408 Jericho Tpke.,
Syosset

DAIRY QUEEN
Post Rd. & Mead Ave.,
Cos Cob, Greenwich, Conn.

DETROIT
Korvettes Shopping Ctr.,
Portchester

EAST BAY AGENCY
3375 Park Ave., Wantagh

EAST MEADOW FLICK
E. Meadow Pl.,
Hempstead Tpke.

EYE SEE THE LIGHT SHOW
Vanderbilt Planetarium, 180
Little Neck Rd., Centerport

GRACIN'S PRO SOUND
42A No. Frankln St.,
Hempstead

HARRISON RADIO
Rt. 110 & Smith St.,
Farmingdale

10 Sunrise Hwy,
Valley Stream
161 Old Country Rd.,
Carle Place

HONDA OF MINEOLA
336 Jericho Tpke., Mineola

JUNCTION JEANS
373 So. Oyster Bay Rd.,
Plainview

LE GUILLOTINE
338 Hope St., Glenbrook,
Stamford, Conn.

LONG ISLAND HONDA
250 Old Ctry Rd., Hicksville

MALIBU DUDE RANCH
Milford, Pa.

MINI CINEMA
Jerusalem Ave., Uniondale

MUSCLE CAR
3200 Sunrise Hwy,
Wantagh

MUSIC MARKET
2305 Hempstead Tpke.,
East Meadow
Nassau Mall, Levittown

MUSIC WAREHOUSE
Westbury Shopping Plaza
Old Country Rd.
Straub Music Warehouse,
381 So. Oyster Bay Rd.,
Plainview

Amber Music Warehouse,
255 Main St., Huntington
Looney Tunes Music
Warehouse, 25 Brookville
Ave., W. Babylon
Commack Music Warehouse
Commack Shopping Plaza,
Veterans Hwy

Island Sound Music
Warehouse, Holiday Park
Shopping Ctr., Merrick
Mothers Music
27 So. Ocean Ave.,
Patchogue

N.Y. PEOPLE'S BROKERAGE
550 Old Ctry Rd., Hicksville

PASTIME PUB
140 Merrick Rd., Amityville

PHOENIX BROKERAGE
310 Northern Blvd.,
Great Neck

POST SKI SHOP
155 E. Sunrise Hwy,
Valley Stream

RECORD WORLD
Roosevelt Field Mall
Garden City
Americana Shopping Center,
Manhasset
70-34A Austin St.,
Forest Hills
Mid-Island Shopping Plaza,
Hicksville
South Shore Mall, Bay Shore
White Plains Mall,
White Plains

RUMBOTTOMS
1075 Hicksville Rd.,
North Seaford

SPEAKER KITS
247-38 Jericho Tpke.,
Bayside, Queens

STEREO WAREHOUSE
L.I.: Roosevelt Field Mall,
opp. Alexanders
50 W. Sunrise Hwy,
E. of Green Acres
Brooklyn: 1629 Flatbush Ave.,
Bet. Aves H & I
Manhattan: Rabson's, 119 W.
57 St., opp.
Carnegie Hall

TITUS OAKS
490 Old Ctry Rd., Hicksville
893 Flatbush Ave., Brooklyn

TIMES SQUARE STORES
Hempstead Tpke., Elmont
Rockaway Tpke., Lawrence
Long Beach Rd., Oceanside
Hempstead Tpke., Levittown
Peninsula Blvd., Hempstead

VISIBLE CHANGES PRECISION HAIRCUTTERS
775 Hempstead Tpke.,
Franklin Square

WOODEN SHIPS INN
135 Glenwood Rd., Glen Head

SAMBA SESSION

and
FELJOADA-BRAZILIAN BEANS
Sunday, Aug. 19th from 3:00 P.M.
Donation: $7 (includes food
& one FREE drink)

Friday & Saturday Aug. 31 & Sept. 1

NANA VASCONCELOS
Berimbau-Vo's-Corpo & Percussao
DONATION: $5.00, TIME: 8:30 P.M.
132 W. 24 ST. N.Y.C. (212) 243-2979

We'll put you in the movies.

Whether you're in the mood for "Grease" or "Gone With The Wind", if a film is playing in N.Y. The Voice Movie Section can put you there.

VOICE

While at the Park, see the WLIR ATV Chevy Blazer, to be given away Sept. 9th at the "Off-Road Expo East". Enter at the Park or at any ATV Store.

ATV/CRAFT